

The A Cappella Choir, composed of 38 GSCW students and 15 GMC students, will appear in concert at Russell Auditorium Wednesday night, under the direction of Max Noah, GSCW Music Department head.

A Cappella Appears In Home Concert Wednesday Night In Auditorium

Choir Presented Programs In Macon And Atlanta

The Milledgeville College Choir is to give its annual concert in Russell Auditorium, Wednesday, March 31, at 8:00 P.M. Although the choir had not had its regular extensive tours as in former years, and many of the boys have joined the armed forces, it is still carrying on as formerly.

This year the choir has made two appearances in Macon. They also visited in Atlanta, and sang before the General Assembly, as well as giving a complete concert at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church, and broadcasting over WGST. The choir has also appeared before many civic clubs and churches in Milledgeville.

The choir, as a Cappella indicates, sings without accompaniment. They spend many hours in perfecting the rendition of difficult compositions, and they also sing without sheet music.

The purpose of the program at the Appreciation Hour Wednesday night is to reveal the beauty of sacred music to those who have felt that this type of music could not be entertaining. The program, made up entirely of sacred music, is as follows:

- I.
1. Bless Thy People, Woods
2. I See His Blood Upon the Rose, Benjamin — Claudia McCorkle, Soloist.
3. Lead Kindly Light, Buck
4. Lo, In the Time Appointed, Willan

- II.
1. Adoramus Te, Palestrina
2. Hodie, Christus, Natus Est (Today Christ Is Born), Willan
3. In Excelsis Gloria, Breton Luvaas
4. Hymn to Raphael the Divine, Bossi

- III.
1. Ave Maria, Arcadelt
2. Credo, Gretchaninof — Mary

Hancock, Soloist
3. Inflammatus en Accensus, from "Stabat Mater," Rossini—Nan Gardner Brown, Soloist, Maggie Jenkins, Accompanist

- IV.
1. Knight of Bethlehem, Wetzel
2. The Song of Mary, Kranz
2. Go Down, Moses, Spiritual
4. Psalm CXLVIII, Holst

Dance Clubs Will Give Program

Members of Cotillion and Folk Dance clubs will combine their talents to present an hour and a half demonstration Thursday April 1, at 7:30 p.m., in Russell auditorium.

The two clubs started working toward this exhibition at the beginning of Winter quarter, under the guidance of their sponsors.

The program will be varied to suit all; from hep-cats to lovers of folk dances of our foreign allies.

Folk Dance group will demonstrate dance numbers from the British Isles, Central Europe, Scandinavia, and Latin America. Cotillion Club has chosen to trace the history of our American dances, from the minuet to jitter-bug.

CGA Initiates Manners Program

Through the cooperation of each student, Good Manners Committee, standing committee of CGA, hopes to formulate working plans for improvement of every-day conduct of all GSCW girls. The committee is asking for suggestions as to ways of bettering conduct on dates, in the college cafeteria, dining halls, auditorium, i.e., in all phases of campus life. This can be done only through active participation of each and every student.

Dormitory councils, through floor leaders, will ask for suggestions from each individual as to how this aim can be reached. CGA requests that each girl give this matter her serious thought.

In the next Colonnade will be a report of the most meritorious suggestions made.

Sparks, Finney Head Corinthian Staff

Jane Sparks was elected in staff meeting Tuesday to direct publication of the Corinthian, literary magazine, for the coming year. Flo Finney was re-elected business manager.

Other officers and new members of the staff who will serve with them are:

Betty Boyd, associate editor; Carlene Ogletree, literary editor; Kay Carpenter, Faye Hancock, Virginia Brazil, Louise Simmons, Frances Ridgway, and Elizabeth Andrews, editorial staff; Lavinia Roughton, Jane Harrell, Peggy George, and Ima Jean Stephens, business staff.

BANDAGE ROOM MAY OPEN MORE DAYS

Students may now take Supervisors Courses in order to facilitate work in the Campus Surgical Dressings Room. The room is now open two days, Tuesdays and Thursdays, each week. A system through which each dormitory has charge of a particular day is now in effect; but if clubs and other organizations are interested in making bandage rolling a part of their program, there is a possibility that other days may also be arranged.

GSCW CONTRIBUTED $283.28 TO RED CROSS; $300 TOTAL SET

Juniors and freshmen carried off top honors in the Red Cross drive last week. A total of $283.28 was contributed by campus organizations in the concentrated campaign Wednesday, and it is expected that the $300 mark would be passed when reports from all sources are received. The junior class boasted the largest contribution of $66.89, but freshmen claimed the distinction of enrolling more members, 240, than any other class.

Corp. William Reid climaxed Wednesday's activities with an organ recital. He presented a varied program of popular, sacred and classical selections. Tickets to this performance were ribbons of class colors which were given to girls as they made their contribution.

Each class sponsored a booth at which members of that class and faculty members made their donations. Competition was spirited and the amounts collected by the various classes were posted at regular intervals throughout the day. These booths were placed in front of the auditorium Wednesday night in order that townspeople might contribute.

Swimming Meet Slated For April 8

The annual inter-class swimming meet will be held on Thursday night, April 8, in the college pool. Each class will be represented by a team composed of selected class members, who will compete in the various events.

Class teams will practice in accordance with the following schedule:

Seniors and sophomores on Monday and Thursday nights; Juniors and freshmen on Tuesday and Friday nights.

Teams may use the pool in the afternoons when it is vacant, or during plunge periods.

Team managers have been appointed as follows:

Berna Smith, freshmen; Louise Rountree, sophomore; Flo Finney, junior; Margaret Keel, senior.

The schedule of events for the meet is:

1. 50-yard dash free style—1 entry.
2. Form swimming—2 entries
Front crawl
Back crawl
Breast stroke
3. Back crawl for speed—1 entry
4. Night shift (comical relay)—4 entries
5. Diving—any number
Running front
Front jack
Back
Optional
6. Synchronized or rhythmic swimming—any number
7. 10-Man Relay—10 entries
Each class must have a minimum of 10 contestants to a team. One girl can enter three events, other than events numbered 6 and 7.

LAST WORD IN DONATIONS

Contributions on the campus in the present Red Cross drive have totalled $802.83, it was announced this morning. Separate contributions are faculty, $512.50; students, $252.88; Peabody, $30.05.

These figures are approximate for complete amounts have not been reported from all sources. Announcement made Friday excluded faculty donations.

Vespers Dedicated To Understanding Lent

The Reverend Harding, rector of the Milledgeville Episcopal church, will be guest speaker at Vespers Sunday night. This will be the first of a series of talks on Lent.

Parking Space

By BETTY PARK

The time has come when I feel that I must take up arms and defend a little item that has long been close to my heart, and which, of late seems to be suffering from violent attacks by members of the older generation.

The item is chewing gum (chew-wing gums). Imagine, great big, grown-up people picking on a poor little defenseless thing like chewing gum. It doesn't do one iota of harm, and think of all the good that comes from it—Hawaiian serenade, Ovaltine appetites, breath that doesn't "kill a man every time you breathe," et cetera. In fact, I really don't see how civilization ever got along without it.

Besides, it sits right along up there with coffee and cigarettes and men in civies—for that matter men—it's service.

When our preceding generation deems to mention it, and its evils, they always bring up that resemblance between "the chewing girl and the chewing cud cow," but after all, if it wasn't for Eddie Cow, just where would you be?

To me, chewing has the same effect as music (and brains, and Ovaltine, and Listerine); it calms my tortured nerves and soul.

So here's to chewing! and long may it bubble.

Government Girls

The lot of a white collar girl in Washington is not exactly a happy one. Her folks at home fondly think she's cutting a heavy tax from sharing the spotlight with big shots, growing giddy in the whirl along embassy row, and making big money. Those who don't know her think she's primping on tax payer's money. Congressional growers picture her as a cross between a refisher and a shifless squatter.

Actually, she's a hard worker and has a tough time looking trim on $1,440. She gets homesick more often than she'll admit. Her morale may not be much—but it's all she has to keep her going.—Collegiate Press Association.

The World This Week

This week has been rather uneventful on the war fronts. In Tunisia, while it appeared early Wednesday, that the British, under Montgomery, had permanently broken through the Maath Line, later in the day, the Germans counter-attacked to regain the lost ground. Lieutenant General Patton and the United States forces took Sened in the El Gueir sector, and were only 50 miles from Gabas, the chief port of the Axis supply line.

In the Russian front, the Russians were holding firmly on the Donet River, and were pushing forward in the Smolensk sector.

Mac Cormack

By BEE MCCORMACK

A nickel, a dime, a quarter, a dollar. What did your contribution to the Red Cross mean to you?

A nickel. To you it would be a coke, a candy bar, something sweet. To a starving war orphan, it would be a piece of bread, a bite of food, a touch of warmth.

A dime. To you it means a trinket, a drugstore treat, a magazine. To a wounded soldier it means a place to lie.

A quarter. To you it stands for a show, a recording, a party. To a refugee it might mean food, security, even life.

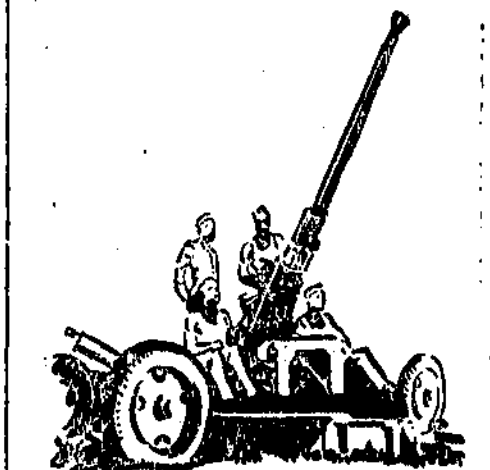

A dollar. To you it may be a bracelet, a telephone call home, a tube of lipstick. To a man overseas it may be a word from the folks, recreation when lonely, encouragement.

Or did that donation really mean anything to you? Was it just another letter home to dad asking for that much more? Did you give with your hands or with your hearts? Do you feel that you can face the boys who are giving their very lives, and say you've done your part to help them live? Or was that coke too tempting, that show too imperative, or that lipstick too necessary?

The answer is yours. Is a luxury worth a life?

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Bofors anti-aircraft gun is designed for greater range and heavier calibre than the average anti-aircraft or rapid fire gun. They are mechanically intricate and more costly. The two-gun Bofors mount costs approximately $98,000 while a Bofors quad-mount runs up to $140,000.

We want our fighters to have the best equipment possible and your purchase of War Bonds will help pay for these guns, giving them an advantage over our enemies. Buy War Bonds every payday. At least ten percent of your income, or as much as you can buy will help pay the war cost, provide you with a nest egg for the future, and pay you good interest. U.S. Treasury Department

No Notes, No Books, No Smiles; Oh, Dear, What Can The Matter Be?

Merely the musing on idle mind... 800 students tramp, shove their way into Russell Auditorium and perch expectantly on the edge of their seats and chapel program begins. Those who found it impossible to reach their seats before the program began, wait respectfully in the door-ways throughout announcements, devotional, speech. Letters, hometown papers, books, magazines are not in evidence. Nobody whispers to her neighbor; nobody tries frantically to prove that she is in her seat and doesn't deserve an absence.

No notes are passed. No sardonic smiles express disapproval of what the speaker is saying; no surreptitious snickers disturb the living silence. In fact, the entire atmosphere is one of active attentiveness.

What's wrong with the whole scene?

Dispassionate Shepherd

Tangled thoughts trail through our uncomposed minds in these rare meditative moments when we escape from our surroundings and transport our imaginations, unscumpered by flesh, to the sides of our men abroad.

We re-live true experiences, but more often we create different ones enacted in the faraway unknown where our sweethearts, fathers, and brothers sleep quietly under guardian ocean mists or valiantly ward off mosquitoes in a humid jungle. We aren't depressingly fearful for them; we only wish that we could share their impressions.

We want to join an uncle, a greying at the temples major in the medical corps, as he races over the English countryside in a diminutive leather-upholstered, crimson carpeted, Austin on a masked mission. Spiritually, we feel akin to an inquisitive childhood companion, who is stationed in North Africa, when his fingers itch to abolish the censorship of a lithe young native's veil. We are eager to reconnoiter the Australian prairies in an ancient crate piloted by a sweetheart or husband.

We conjure visions of these men, yet they don't betray by the twitch of a muscle that they feel our prayers and aspirations surrounding them in impregnable sheaths more real than the enemy's keenest bayonet. Even so, they are as aware of us as we are of them. We are conscious of this as we continue to gaze fixedly off into space.

'Two of a Kind' Is A Saga Of Love And Out-casts

Swamp Water author, Vereen Bell, has completed another novel that is destined to fascinate all who read it. It is the eerie story of Judas, an outlaw pointer, and one Duff Webster, an outlaw or rather an outcast of civilization. Even though this is the story of a dog you don't have to be a member of the Tail Waggers Society to enjoy it.

Haunting and strange, it tells the story of two souls who war-devils in their own way, and the struggles and fight of those who tried to tame them.

You will envy Lucia, who fell in love and won the love of Duff, yet you'll be thankful you don't have to swap shoes with her when she has to play the role of diplomat between her grandfather, whom you love one minute and hate the next (for he also possessed a bit of the spirit of the evil one) and Duff and Judas.

This is a trying tale, too. In the climax one mismove destroyed (or so you will believe for a while) all the work accomplished by Duff. It almost reverted both devils into the state they were in when the story began.

It has its light parts, though, Paul, the colored trainer, Amblin' Sam, old Amos' favorite pointer, who went down in "history" and Paul's father, Old Amos Hawthorne is Lucia's grandfather. This book, Two of a Kind, is one you can't help reading.

WAVE Weds Soldier After Graduation

One of Milledgeville's most interesting wartime weddings was solemnized March 15, following graduation exercises at the U.S. Naval Training School at Georgia State College for Women.

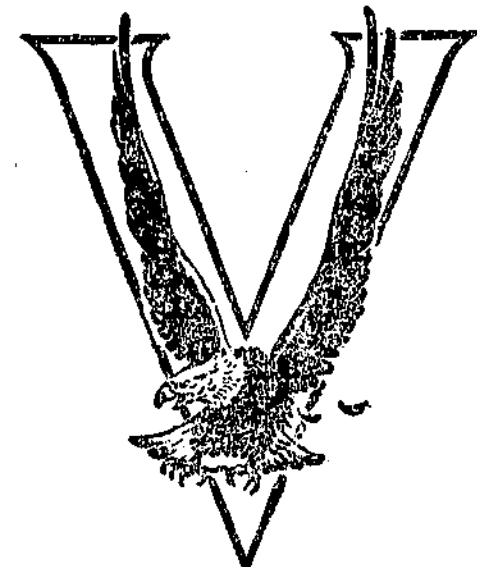

The bride, one of the WAVES graduated, was Miss Stella T. Lanch of Maspeth, L. I., and the bridegroom was Private Robert Fuller of Camp Wheeler and Tennessee.

The ceremony took place at the rectory of Sacred Heart Church, with Monsignor Joseph Cassidy, officiating.

The maid of honor was Miss Grace Kirbeth, of Milwaukee, Wis., and serving as bridesmaid was Miss Ruth King of Hollywood, Calif. Both of the bride's attendants were among the WAVES graduated.

Corp. Clyde R. Johnson of Camp Wheeler, and Wheeling, W. Va., was best man.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party was entertained at dinner in the College Hill Tavern.

400 MORE WAVES EXPECTED IN JULY; JUNIOR COLLEGES MAY BE DROPPED

GSCW may expect an addition of 400 more WAVES in July, Chancellor S. V. Sanford disclosed at a meeting of the Board of Regents in Macon Thursday. He added that this increase would be expected to "save it."

Three of the University System's six junior colleges may be turned over, entirely to the government for the training of armed forces as a partial solution of military-civilian schooling problems.

Dr. Guy Wells has stated that this increase would bring Naval Training School enrollment up to the figure originally planned for by the college. Chancellor Sanford recommended the release of three schools to the government in an informal discussion of the effect war is having on Georgia colleges—taking regular students and at the same time flooding campuses with Army and Navy trainees.

Necessitated by Enrollment Because of decided decrease in number of students, Georgia schools will have to abandon wartime 12-months schedules within a 50 per cent increase in appropriation (now at $1,800,000) or increase number of military units at some schools. Senior colleges, as a whole, are getting along all right—military benefits offsetting fee losses. Sanford stated the situation is more acute in junior colleges, and greater reductions in enrollment are expected next year.

Institutions Cited The six junior institutions are Abraham Baldwin College, Tifton; Georgia Southwestern, Americus; Middle Georgia, Cochran; North Georgia, Dahlonega; South Georgia, Douglas; and West Georgia, Cochran.

The meeting of the regents was the first since the reaccrediting of the colleges in the State University System. Sanford reported that every accrediting agency that dropped Georgia institutions has reinstated them, except the American Association of Universities. This Association has not met since the creation of the new Board of Regents.

WAVES Here Now Four hundred WAVES arrived at the U.S. Naval Training School for Yeomen at Georgia State College for Women last Friday.

The new group reported here after four weeks of Naval indoctrination at the Naval Training School, Hunter College, New York City, from which they were graduated as Seamen, second class.

The four hundred WAVES have been divided into four companies. Each will be headed by a student company commander under the supervision of a WAVE officer. All will be housed in Ennis Hall, Mansion Hall, and Mayfair Hall, the GSCW buildings now being used by the Navy.

Rental Library Adds Nine Books

Nine new books have been added to the Rental Library, according to a recent announcement. These books are now available to students. They are: Journey for Margaret, by W. L. White; The Magical Realm, Kathleen Coyle; Time of Peace, Ben Ames Williams; The Human Comedy, William Saroyan; Guadalupe Diary, Richard Tregaskis; I Came Out of the Eighteenth Century, Joana Rice; The Three Bambi's, Robert Standish; A Circle in the Water, Helen Hull; Two of a Kind, Vereen Bell.

There's the Freshmen Dance on April 3.... Part of the Share-Your-Date Campaign instigated by some far-sighted student, no doubt....

If you want to remember something important to the folks at home... the home-going week-ends begin April 10, and continue without intermission for four weeks thereafter....

Last and most important... REMEMBER that we live in a democracy and exercise your privilege of voting in class and day student elections April 12-28.

DEWITT IS NEW IRC PRESIDENT

Jean DeWitt was elected president of the 1943-44 International Relations Club at the regular meeting Friday night. Billy Bundy, vice-president; Hilda Pope, secretary; and Jean Power, treasurer, are the new officers who will serve with her.

Faculty Members Attend GEA Meet

Dr. Mildred English has announced that Dr. Guy H. Wells, Dr. Harry A. Little, Mr. George Haslam, and Miss Bernice Freeman will be official delegates from GSCW, to the Georgia Education Association meeting in Atlanta April 6-8. Alternate representatives are Dr. W. T. Wynn, Miss Maggie Jenkins, Miss Louise Smith, and Miss Ernestine Melton.

The annual convention of the State Parent-Teacher Association and the meeting of the Southern Music Educators' Institute will be held in Atlanta concurrent to the GEA convention. Mr. Max Nash, music department head, is vice president of the Southern Music Educators' Association.

WAAC RESERVE IS NOW OPEN TO GIRLS WHO COMPLETE WORK IN YEAR

Students who are now in college or business school, and who meet qualifications may enroll now in Woman's Army Auxiliary Corps, yet remain in an inactive status until completion of the current year or the school course for which they are enrolled, if such a course can be completed in less than one year.

DR. RUFUS OAKLEY CALLED TO NAVY AS CHAPLAIN

Dr. Rufus W. Oakley, pastor of the Presbyterian church, has received his order to report to Portsmouth, Va., for a six week's training period in the Navy. Upon completion of this course, Dr. Oakley will be assigned to further duty as a chaplain in the U. S. Navy.

Dr. Oakley was accepted for Navy service several weeks ago and was awaiting orders. Upon his return, his congregation has granted him a leave of absence so that he could enter the service.

VICTORY BOOK DRIVE STILL BELOW QUOTA

Although 300 books have been contributed to the local Victory Book campaign, efforts are being made by Dr. W. T. Wynn, Baldwin county's chairman to boost the total to 500.

Books already collected have been sent to the state distributing center, Dr. Wynn stated, where they will be catalogued and forwarded to the men in the service.

Books are being assembled at the GSCW library, the chairman said, and persons who have contributions are urged to turn them in as soon as possible.

Term of service in the WAAC's is for the duration of the war plus a period of not more than six months thereafter. Members of the WAAC are entitled to a total of thirty days leave or furlough per year, provided their services can be spared.

They live in comfortable, attractive quarters, especially planned for women. Each of the WAAC barracks has a planned, well-furnished day room where games and music may be enjoyed during off-duty hours. Appetizing meals are prepared by women cooks trained in the WAAC. When meals are not furnished, a cash allowance is paid. Medical and dental services, hospitalization are provided at government expense. Members are entitled to benefits under the United States Employees Compensation Act, and to benefits provided by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940.

Additional information may be obtained from Staff Sgt. W. P. Carpenter, Jr., in the Post Office Bldg., or write to WAAC Re-

Murchison Heads Commerce Club

Mary Frances Murchison was elected president of Commerce Club at the regular monthly meeting held on Tuesday night in Beeson rec hall. She will succeed Hannah Slappey. Other officers elected were: Mary Pierce Hammons, vice-president; Charlotte Youmans, secretary; and Hilda Giddons, treasurer. They replace Toni Marsingill, Sara Baccus, and Mary Frances Murchison, respectively.

Complete Casualty List Is Available

Through the efforts of Hon. Carl Vinson, representative from Sixth Congressional District, it is now possible for the GSCW library to receive complete casualty lists as they are released by the War Department. The library will post these lists as they are received, beginning April 6.

Miss Betty Ferguson, librarian, requested that Mr. Vinson obtain this service for the library in order to accommodate the WAVES stationed here. Most of the trainees are from out-of-state and it is virtually impossible for them to see newspapers regularly which are published near their homes. Consequently, for their convenience, as well as students' convenience, complete casualty lists for the entire nation will now be available here.

COLLEGIATE DIGEST BEST ARE SHOWN HERE

The Collegiate Digest Traveling Salon will be on display in Beeson Room of the library until Saturday, April 3. The Salon is composed of the originals of the best pictures published in the Collegiate Digest during the past year. These pictures will be shown at the University of Georgia when they leave here. The display is open to the public.

YWCA POSTPONES 1943 INSTITUTE

Because of the impossibility of obtaining a speaker for the scheduled dates, this year's Institute of Personal Relations has been cancelled, Cynthia Mallory, the YWCA secretary, has announced. If a speaker can be found later this quarter, the Institute will be conducted.
